Manager Support and Coaching

Would you like us to support you in implementing new business, management or production practices? Our team of coaches/trainers can offer professional and personalized support. Coaching enables our clients to be autonomous and to maximize the results of our involvement.

Coaching is professional, personalized support that provides concrete and measurable results in the professional life of the person who receives it. Through the coaching process, the coached person deepens his knowledge and improves his performance by practising new management techniques within the company. Coaching often complements the new implementations that we have done. Implementing new management or production techniques without subsequent coaching has often proved to be ineffective in terms of results. Coaching is a necessary phase in implementations.

Position clearly distinguishes coaching from mentoring. In coaching, the coach sits beside the coached person, in a position of equality.
